THE LOAN OF A LOVER.

A Novel Industry to be Opened for Impetuous Young Men.

Washington Correspondence in Charleston News and Courier.

There is stopping in the city at the present time a gentleman whose name it would be unfair to give, but whose mission here is certainly a novel one. It is, in fact, the establishment of a private bureau which will have for its object the loaning out of young men. For instance: A wealthy maiden lady of uncertain age desires an escort to the theatre, receptions, etc. Despite the glitter of wealth and all the arts of the modiste, she fails to attract, and must, perforce, enjoy the distinction of a male escort by playing the role of chaperon to a younger and fairer niece or cousin, or, as is frequently the case, remain at home. To all such the founder of this bureau will prove a sincere friend. The young men to be employed will be handsome, thoroughly accomplished, sufficiently aesthetic to suit all requirements, educated and agreeable. They will probably "come high," but the old maids will have the same duties that are now performed by the nimble but humble district telegraph boy, with the difference that the former adds tone and attractiveness, while the latter is merely useful. The modus operandi is briefly this: The maiden lady sends for the managers and informs him of her wishes. The manager opens his album and displays the different styles of beauty, accompany each photograph with a description of the manners and characteristics of the original. The lady chooses her man, who immediately calls. If suited the terms are next agreed upon. If the lady be particularly aristocratic she will probably board the young man at a fashionable hotel, where he will simply be known as a gentleman of elegant leisure. The manager will see that he has a large and suitable wardrobe befitting a young gentleman of his social standing. Until the contract expires he remains the property of the lessee. It shall be his duty to drive her out in the evenings, take her to the different public places of amusement, and as her escort to the houses of fashionable acquaintances, be introduced as an "old friend of the family temporarily residing in the city." If it be the lady's pleasure that he talks interestedly entre acts, squeeze her hand impulsively, or looks unutterable love at her as she glides through the whirl of the mazy, he is, of course, expected to do so: The "dummy's" compensation will be regulated in a degree by the crankiness and ill-looks of the lessee. The homelier and more exacting she is, the greater the pay. But the utility does not end there. Young ladies will find him useful also. In their case his duty as an escort will not be a necessity but simply to arouse the jealousy and pique the feelings of some other young man who may be too backward in coming forward. It is expected that the dummy will manage things so adroitly that the object of the young lady's affections will declare his feelings in short order, lest the stranger step in and carry off the prize he had so long been playing fast and loose with.

Looked at from a philosophical standpoint the scheme is a good one. At all events the experiment will be tried here next winter. If successful, branches will be speedily opened in every large city in the country.

Cigars With Fancy Names Sell Well.

A cigar seller in this city, says, Chicago Herald, says that not one man in a dozen knows anything about the cigars he is smoking, and will smoke a five cent cigar with as much enjoyment as a fifteen cent one, provided he thinks the five center a high-priced cigar. The label on a cigar box has a great deal to do with making a cigar popular, and the quotation, "a rose would smell as sweet by any other name," does not hold good in this instance, as customers generally go back on a cigar when the label on a box is changed. It does no good for the clerk to explain and expostulate, the label is changed and the cigar has lost its attractions. The stealing of Cuban manufacturers' labels by American manufacturers was caused by this simple fact. No matter how good a cigar was made by home manufacturers, they found that they were oversold by inferior grades of cigars which bore foreign brands. They adopted the foreign labels, therefore, and immediately their home manufactured cigars sprang into deserved popularity.

The high toned smoking public merely wanted name. It pleased a young blood more to go into a cigar store and demand a "Flora" and a "Fuina de Delecte" than to ask for a "Squashtown Regalia," or "St. Louis Domestic." In nine cases out of ten a straight fifteen cent domestic cigar is far superior to an imported article of equal price, but you can't argue that with the general run of customers. Among these Hebrews, as a class, are the best judges and smoke the finest articles. The Hebrew customer is much prized, and no cigar dealer who enjoys their favor is in any danger of going into bankruptcy. Gamblers are as a rule smokers of the finest goods, but they are customers very erratic, owing to the different changes of fortune they experience. For weeks and weeks a member of the fraternity may present himself at the same cigar counter and smoke his twenty-five cent cigars. Suddenly some day he appears and says he is tired of the brand he will try a nickel cigar. The clerk asks no questions and in a short time he returns to his twenty-five cent weeds.

For and About Women.

A young woman at Elizabethtown, Ky., had her father's wheat field gleaned after it had been harvested, securing fifty bushels of grain to sell for her own account.

Says Dr. Alice Stockholm: "To be a successful physician a woman must be a lady—womanly woman. No aping of masculine habits, dress or foibles will not conduce to success. She must have an affinity for the work, feel at home in the sick-room, with a desire and tact to relieve suffering, devoid of any morbid sensibility at sight of pain, offensive deformities and ghastly injuries and operations. She must be born to command, firm in purpose and quick to execute, at the same time have dignity and self-control. Nothing must escape her observation. She must be able to reason from cause to effect, strong in convictions, but slow to give an opinion. She needs a love for scientific research and the ability to apply herself to study."

Miss Lowery horsewhipped Edward Orr, at Gray's Falls, Ont., because he preferred another girl in marriage. Her two brothers and new lover held him fast while she plied the whip. That happened a year ago. Orr obtained a whip, and has since flogged each of the three men separately with it, the last to receive punishment getting so much that he was confined to his bed for a week. The girl then became frightened, and wrote to ask if she, too, was to be whipped. Orr replied that he had no such intention, but thought he might feel impelled to thrash her father and several of her consins unless they treated him with deference.

The Correspondencia states that at a meeting of Old Carlists, it was decided, in consequence of Don Carlos' course of life, that his son, Prince James, should be proclaimed the head of the Spanish Legitimist party.

The Smithsonian Institution has received from the Academy of Venice an announcement of the discovery by Schmidt, at Athens, on the 8th of October, of a comet with the same motion in right ascension and declination.

Collector Whitney, of St. Louis, fined the steamer Hudson $500 for carrying oil contrary to law. Secretary Folger, of the U. S. Treasury, remitted the fine as not in accordance with the law. The decision is very important to marine carriers.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

FRIDAY EVENING, OCT. 13, 1882.

TERMS:—The EVENING BULLETIN is published daily, and served free of postage at 6 cents per week; 25 cents per month; 75 cents per three months; $1.50 per six months, and $3 per year, payable in advance.

THE EVENING BULLETIN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION IN THIS CITY, CHESTER AND ABERDEEN, OHIO, THAN ANY OTHER PAPER PUBLISHED IN MAYSVILLE.

CAPT. CULBERTSON, the Republican candidate for congress in this district, for reasons best known to himself, has declined to meet Col. Hurt on the stump, though urgently invited by him to do so. The gallant Captain evident considers discretion the better part of valor.

MAJOR J. ALEX. GRANT, of Frankfort, is announced as a candidate for Register of the Land Office. He formerly held the same office, and is therefore entirely competent to do the work. His many friends in this part of the state would be pleased to hear of his nomination to the position.

MAJOR L. C. NORMAN, the State Insurance Commissioner, has issued a circular warning all persons from acting as agents in Kentucky for the fraudulent and illegal concerns known as Matrimonial Associations, under penalty of fine and imprisonment if not paid, on conviction by the proper court.

A RECENT calculation has been made as to the cost of carrying wheat to market by rail and water, and by water only. From Kansas City to Liverpool it costs but fifty-two cents to carry a bushel of wheat by rail to New York and water to Liverpool. The cost by the water route, the Missouri, the Mississippi and the ocean is only thirty cents, thus showing a saving in cost of transportation of twenty-two cents, which ought to go into the pockets of Western farmers.

CAPT. CULBERTSON, the Republican nominee for Congress in this district, is charged by one of the papers of his neighborhood with being an infidel, and it is alleged that he does not attempt to disguise his belief. And yet Elder Pinkerton, a mountain preacher, is one of his warmest supporters and expects to stump a part of the district in Mr. Culbertson's interest. When a preacher gets into politics he sometimes finds he has very peculiar duties to perform for the party of high moral ideas.

The great attraction to astronomers and others interested in celestial bodies for the past two weeks, is the blazing comet that makes its appearance every morning between four and five o'clock, in the eastern skies. It stands with its head pointing toward the earth with its flaming tail brushing the sky above. Like a crab it moves backwards. The tail is about 20 degrees long, at least so the astronomers tell us, and is slightly bent or sword shaped. It will only be visible for a few mornings longer.

The story is in circulation in Washington that Guiteau's skull has been stolen from the Army Medical museum in that city, and there are no hopes of its recovery. The story is that the remains were taken from the jail the night of the execution and brought to the museum, where they were turned over to Dr. Schaffhirt, the anatomist of the institution, who was to prepare the skeleton for mounting. In the process, which was a long one, the skull, separated from other portions of the remains, was placed for a few moments on a window-sill overlooking an alley, and while the doctor was eating his lunch was stolen by some one who climbed up to the window for the purpose.

NEWS BREVITIES.

The colored people of Columbia, South Carolina, are in a state of great religious excitement about the comet. They believe it is a warning of the coming of the millenium.

In the case of the Northern Line Packet company, Samuel C. Clubb, receiver, vs. Commodore W. F. Davidson, the defendant, was successful yesterday before Judge Bobbe at St. Louis.

The Chicago and Hannibal (Mo.) railroad was incorporated at Springfield, Tuesday. Capital stock, $2,000,000, which M. J. Richards, one of the leading incorporators, says has been all taken.

The Frenchman, Ernst DuBourque, who stabbed several women in a New York store, was arraigned in the Police Court, and locked up to await the result of his victims' wounds. There are doubts of his insanity.

There is a report that one of the chief eunuchs of the palace entered the cell of Abdul Gaffer, a political prisoner, roused him from sleep, spat in his face, and inflicted other indignities upon him. The eunuch proceeded to Arabi Pasha's cell and acted in a similar manner, but with greater violence.

The stern-wheel steamer Plow Boy, en route from Pine Bluff, Ark., to Memphis, struck a snag in White River Cut-off, eight miles above its mouth, and sunk. She was owned by the Memphis and Arkansas River Packet Company, was three years old, valued at $12,000 and insured for $5,000 in Cincinnati offices. The cargo consisted of 350 bales of cotton, consigned to Memphis merchants. It is reported that she boat will be a total loss. She was built by Jas. Rees & Co., of Pittsburg.

Bitten by a Tarantula.

Louis Gurado, an Italian fruit-vender, who keeps a stand at Second avenue and Fourth street, was bitten on Saturday by a tarantula, and was nearly frightened to death. He was in the act of cutting a banana from a bunch on his stand, when the insect, which was evidently hidden on the stalk of the bunch, stung him on the right thumb. Gurado struck at the insect and killed it. Soon after he felt a sharp pain in his thumb, began to feel dizzy and uncomfortable, and in a few minutes fell on the pavement like a man under the influence of liquor. His hand and arm swelled to nearly twice their natural size, and the swelling increased and communicated to his face and neck. His wife, who was with him at the stand, became alarmed and cried out that her husband was dying. A crowd collected about the man, and this attracted a policeman. An ambulance was summoned, and Gurado was sent to Bellevue Hospital. When he arrived at the hospital the swelling had already begun to subside. A cooling salve was applied to the wounded thumb, and yesterday morning, having fully recovered, he was allowed to go to his home.—N. Y. Times, Oct. 9th.

Buffalo Bill.

This noted scout and guide, whose handsome personal appearance and genial bearing is well-known to all and whose many strange and romantic incidents make a life which is more fit to adorn the pages of romance than any fancy of the brain which could suggest any of the heroes of the "Leatherstocking" tales, will be here Monday. Born upon the western prairies, and reared amid wild scenes of tumult, his father murdered in the early days when Kansas, with the strength of a young giant was shaking off the yoke of African slavery, a trained Indian fighter, and having served his young state in earliest manhood as a trusted and honored member of the Legislature, it is probable that William F. Cody is as well acquainted with all that pertains to the west as any other living man.

His acquaintance and fame as a great western scout and actor are as broad as the nation. Cody, although young in years, has filled a prominent place in the history of the west. His services to the United States have been far in excess of the compensation received. His gentlemanly instincts, linked with his good nature and ability, make him a great friend of General Phil. Sheridan. So polished and gentlemanly in manners, combined with his fitness, he was made by the Government a special guide to go with the Duke Alexis, of Russia, on his celebrated buffalo hunt through the West.

THE grand jury, Thursday, returned the following indictments, viz: Thos. Wilson, Samuel Foster and Chas. Williams, assaulted with intent to rob; H. B. Porter, Jr., horse stealing; same, grand larceny; Wm. Marshall, colored, burglary. Williams, Foster and Wilson's bail was fixed at $500 each; Porter's at $250 in each case, and Marshall's at $500, which none of them were able to give. The parties are all in jail awaiting their trial. The grand jury failed to indict James A. Foster, colored, and Charles Cornelius, colored, the parties who were suspected of stealing a large sum of money from Mr. John Masterson recently. They were released from jail Thursday afternoon.

AT the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias, of Kentucky held at Owensboro on the 12th inst. the following officers were elected: J. G. Powers, Owensboro (ex-officio), Sitting Past Grand Chancellor; A. J. Lovely, Paris, Grand Chancellor; D. O. Wilkin, Carrollton, Vice Grand Chancellor; P. R. Zulauf, Grand Prelate; C. F. Minott, Louisville, Grand Keeper of Records and Seals; Geo. W. Mentz, Louisville, Grand Master of Exchequer, W. S. Saffell, Frankfort, Grand Master at Arms; W. C. Quinby, Grand Inner Guard.

THE Bracken Chronicle says:

Our representative interviewed Capt. Brown of the steamer Clipper, recently, in relation to the suit brought against his boat for $3,000. He expresses himself as being satisfied he can beat the parties who instituted suit, saying that he never at any time, had more people aboard the boat than was allowed by law. The barge he used as a "lighter" contained the bulk of the passengers, and that the Clipper, proper, never contained the amount stated. The barge was used to make landings, his boat drawing so much water that he could not approach near enough shore to land his passengers. The party who had the suit brought gets one half of the money received and Mr. Brown thinks that is the cause of the suit. He has not received official notice of a suit yet, but has learned from the Captains of the Handy and Katie Prather that the suits have been filed.

COUNTY POINTS.

MAYSVILLE.

The colored A. and M. association held their annual exhibition, near this place last week. The attendance was good and a financial success. Only one arrest was made and that was a white man from Robertson county. The music was furnished by J. H. Brister's reed band of Carlisle and was very creditable.

Dr. Clarke and wife of Vanceburg, while visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bedford, near this place, met with a very sad misfortune on Tuesday, by the death of both their little girls, aged respectively four and six years. They had been sick but a short time, when that fatal disease diphtheria carried them to the other shore. They were interred in the cemetery at this place Wednesday morning in one grave side by side and now sleep the sleep that knows no waking. ROMEO.

The Result.

Cincinnati Commercial

The overwhelming defeat of the republicans in Ohio, is likely to be far-reaching in its consequences. In Indiana the republicans have looked hopefully to Ohio, conscious that defeat here would greatly imperil the chances of success there, and make redoubled effort necessary to neutralize its mischievous effect. Had Ohio gone Republican in October we should have counted on Indiana to certainly go Republican in November. As it is, Indiana becomes a doubtful battle ground, with the chances Democratic.

In Pennsylvania the Ohio defeat will be demoralizing; with the party there hopelessly divided, and the Independents growing daily in numbers, it is probable the Democrats will carry the State by a plurality. But as the Independents prefer that to a continuation of the Cameron boss rule, the lamentations over disaster will be chiefly confined to the Stalwarts, who will read in the defeat the death warrant of their own power.

In New York the defeat of Folger is conceded by even those who moderately advocate his election on personal grounds, through they do not approve the methods by which his nomination was secured. But the defeat in Ohio will augment the disaster in New York and swell the Democratic majority to tremendous proportions.

If those who, by their insane policy, have fooled and frittered away a Republican majority of 24,000 in two years, and given the State into Democratic hands by a majority nearly or quite as large as their own party had in 1880, can find any compensation for their folly in the election of the entire Democratic State ticket, their loss of several Representative in congress, and the permanent disaffection of the German voters, they must be philosophers with a capacity for extracting gunbeams from cucumbers.

Feeding Horses by Clock Work.

Nearly two years ago, as I had agreed to feed the horse of a relative at five o'clock a. m., so that the animal would be ready for service at half-past six, and as the stable was located at a distance of half a mile from my residence, I constructed a rude but efficient device to aid in feeding the horse precisely at five o'clock every morning without the presence of any person (not patented nor patentable.) At one side of the stall, I hung a lid with hinges over the top of the small feed manger. One end of the lid extended about a foot into the feed room. To make the end of the lid in the feed room heavy enough to go down and thus open the manger, a piece of iron was attached to the end of the lid making that end in the feed room about one pound heavier than the part of the lid that covered the manger. An alarm clock was then placed in a cupboard, fastened to the side of the wall in the feed room, and a half inch hole was bored up through the bottom of the cupboard and through the bottom of the clock case directly beneath the large wheel of the alarm gearing. Then a small wire, about as large as a coarse horse hair, was attached to the heavier end of the lid to the manger, while a long loop was made at the other end of the wire. At evening I fed the horse his evening meal in his proper manger, and putting the mess for morning in the other manger, the looped end of the wire was put through the hole in the bottom of the clock case, and the loop was hooked on one of the teeth or cogs of the large wheel. The wire was made just long enough to hold up the heavier end of the lid in a horizontal position, thus closing the manger. The moment the alarm wheels started, at five o'clock, the wire loop slipped off the cog and the lid of the manger opened and stood erect, so that the horse could eat. This rude device never failed to open the lid precisely at the appointed hour. I could feed the horse with absolute certainty at any other hour, though I were two hundred miles away from the stables. One clock would open half a dozen lids as well as one.--Serenio Edwards Todd, Sr., in Elmira Husbandman.

Slow But Sure.

A real estate dealer in New England sold seven farms in ten days at prices averaging about $3,000 each--mostly to persons who had been in mechanical business, but who had learned that there is no property so safe as land, and no pursuit promising so sure a livelihood as agriculture. It is an indication of a general and wholesome tendency of the time. There are always thousands of men in these busy streets who left rural homes many years ago, and who, weighed down by commercial troubles, would gladly return, if it were possible, to some quiet country neighborhood, feeling sure that they could at least raise enough to feed their families with less strain of body and mind than that which is now wearing out their lives. This is true also of every other city or town, as witness the following--a fair sample of letters that reach us from all quarters:

"I am about educated up to the point of believing that a small farm is about the only independent and satisfactory possession a tolerably poor man can obtain in the average state of trade. I am now engaged in the book business, and, like everything else, it is a source of more worry than revenue, and it requires constant care and straining to keep one's head above water."

"To can raspberries, fill the cans full of berries, set them in a boiler of cold water with wooden slats laid on the bottom, and bring the water to the boiling point. As the berries settle add more till the juice reaches the top of the can, then seal. In this way the sirup is undiluted with water. Or, put the berries in a stewpan with a little water, let them boil four or five minutes, then put in cans and seal."—N. Y. Tribune.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District. ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880. DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there, I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as bunions, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL Druggists have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO. Enosburgh Falls, Vermont.
